

Presse Release

Make Munich - The Maker and Do-It-Yourself Festival

Munich, Dec 7th, 2018. Make Munich is Southern Germany's largest maker and do it yourself festival, which will take place for the fifth time in Munich next March. It has been firmly established in Munich since 2013 and will even be expanded by a second exhibition hall in 2019.

On 2nd/3rd March 2019, the makers will present their creative ideas, inventions, projects, technologies and their open, colourful culture of innovation.

At the exhibition booths and in many inspiring lectures, the Maker scene will be experienced in its entire variety. But it's not just about spectating, it's also about doing it yourself and experimenting: In numerous hands-on workshops "new makers" are taught all the skills they need to be creative and inventive and to produce their own things using modern technologies. The Munich Maker Festival is a colourful public event for all ages. You can touch and try out high-tech here. The mega topic of digitisation can be experienced by everyone in a comprehensible and creative way.

The diverse topics at Make Munich include electronics, Internet of Things (IoT), 3D printing, digital tools, robotics and fashion technology. Maker start-ups show the way to professionalisation. FabLabs and Makerspaces present their ideas and creative communities. Also projects and initiatives from the circular economy, repair culture, bio-hacking and design & craft present themselves to the public. A completely new feature is a separate large area for the "Young Maker" young talents.

In addition to 180 exhibitors, more than 10,000 visitors from Germany and the neighbouring countries Italy, Switzerland and Austria are expected.

Our long-standing partner and main sponsor, Allnet GmbH, will be networking the maker scene with established medium-sized companies from its surroundings in a dedicated area in the new "Kohlenbunker" hall on the Saturday of the fair.

As the new main sponsor, Siemens AG is also on board to promote the maker culture and innovations across society.

As a close educational cooperation partner, Munich University of Applied Sciences will present many exciting university maker projects. Other colleges and universities will also present their FabLab initiatives and ideas.

Make Munich short info:

What: South Germany's largest Maker and Do It Yourself Festival

When: Sat/Sun 2nd/3rd March 2019

Open: from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Where: Zenith hall + Kohlenbunker hall, Lilienthallee 29, 80939 Munich, Germany

Entrance fees: Children up to 10 years free of charge, teenagers 8 €, adults 15€, families 30 €

Press contact:

Martin Laarmann: presse@make-munich.de

Phone: 0177 / 58 0 58 58

Picture gallery, logo, press releases: http://make-munich.de /pressekit/

High-resolution pictures: <https://fluxkompensator.i234.me/drive/d/f/458845284678509908>

Further information:

www.make-munich.de

www.facebook.com/make.munich

www.make-munich.de/tickets/

